

No.	Criteria	0-1 points	2-3 points	4-5 points
1	Novelty & Uniqueness	The product lacks originality and is not unique in its concept or design.	The product has some originality but may include elements that are not completely unique.	The product is highly original and unique, showcasing innovative ideas and approaches.
2	Benefit to Mankind	The product offers minimal benefit to potential end users and does not address significant needs.	The product provides basic benefits to potential end users, addressing some needs.	The product greatly benefits potential end users at various levels (nation, community, field) and addresses significant needs.
3	Commercialization	The product is not marketable and lacks user-friendliness, making it difficult to adopt.	The product has some marketability and user-friendliness but requires improvements for wider adoption.	The product is highly marketable and user-friendly, making it easy to adopt and use.
4	Status of Invention/Innovation/Design	The product is not a prototype or ready for use and lacks recognition or publication.	The product is a prototype or ready for use but has limited recognition or publication.	The product is a prototype or ready for use with excellent recognition or publication, indicating its credibility and validation.
5	Video Presentation	The video presentation is of poor quality, unclear, and not concise. It exceeds 7 minutes in duration.	The video presentation is moderate quality, clear but not concise, and exactly five minutes long.	The video presentation is of high quality, very clear, and concise. It is within 7 minutes in duration.
6	Supporting Documents	No related documents	Only ONE related document such as copyright, publication, patent, LOI, etc.	This product has many remarkable achievements such as copyright, publication, patent, LOI, etc.
7	JURY COMMENTS (IF ANY)			